

Mechanical Engineering Delegation Visits Naval Surface Warfare Center, Carderock

Naval Surface Warfare Center, Carderock Division, hosts retired Vice Adm. Mel Williams (front row, left) and several other faculty members and students from the Catholic University of America in support of continued collaboration efforts regarding advanced learning initiatives. The visit was conducted at the West Bethesda campus on Nov. 2, 2017, and consisted of a command overview provided by Larry Tarasek (front row, right), acting technical director, as well as tours highlighting some of the world-class facilities and capabilities that Carderock has to successfully support the U.S. Navy. (U.S. Navy photo by Jake Cirksena/Released). From Wavelets, Nov. 6-10, 2017. The mechanical engineering delegation included Dr. Joseph Vignola and the following students Laurie Wei, Heston Priestley, Joseph Santschi, John Kenny, Patrick Lonenmann and Peter Smith.